INTRODUCTION

IN COMPILING the Intercollegiate Song Book it has been the purpose of the Editors to gather together in one volume as many as possible of the principal alma mater and football songs of the foremost American institutions of learning. A tremendous quantity of music was submitted, and it was a problem to prevent a conflict between this book and individual college collections already published. Consequently it was deemed advisable to restrict each college to one alma mater and one football song, and to leave the selection of these to the colleges themselves, the choice thus becoming official.

In the case of a number of colleges, the melodies used for football songs have never even been written down and so are not available; in a few instances no football song exists either because the talent has so far been lacking or else football is not included among the college activities. To include all the institutions of the country in one volume would be impracticable both for reasons of size and for general usage. There are a great many college songs that might have been incorporated in this initial volume; but due either to delay in sending in the manuscripts or else failure to respond to the invitation of the Editors not a few of these institutions were necessarily omitted. In a number of other cases, failure to locate a copyright owner meant the elimination of the song temporarily. However, it is the hope of the Editors that the popularity of the first volume will warrant the early publication of a second, in which will be included other favorite songs not contained in the present edition.

The need for such a book as this has been long apparent. In view of the growing national popularity of college football games it has seemed most appropriate to publish such a collection of college songs as would give students, alumni, and the general public alike, a more intimate knowledge of the principal songs heard in the local stadium as well as at the intersectional contest. It is generally true that the students of one college frequently are not familiar with the songs of a rival institution; and so it is believed that, when two teams meet in annual contest, familiarity with the opponent's songs will lend additional enjoyment to those in the stands. The general public, too, will doubtless derive a greater pleasure in knowing both the words and the music of the featured songs of both colleges.

In order to increase the value of such a volume as the Intercollegiate Song Book, the Editors have included in the Appendix the colors of each of the colleges represented, so that those attending athletic games may wear their favorite colors. An index of tunes, adaptable for miscellaneous occasions, lends additional worth. The glossary of musical terms will aid the student in achieving a better understanding of the music as it is marked and as the composer would wish to have it played or sung. While the songs have been arranged alphabetically according to colleges, not a few of the selections are better known perhaps by the first phrase of the verse than by the title. For this reason an index of first lines has been inserted. There is also a list of composers, authors and arrangers.

Lest the spirit and originality of the various songs be lost in any re-arrangement of the music, the songs of each of the colleges have been published just as they are used at the respective institutions. Practically all of the numbers were written while the authors and composers were undergraduates, and in each song there exists the true college spirit.

The volume contains a varied assortment of favorite college songs that should give great pleasure to young and old alike. Many of them date back to the early days of the institutions, and are as historic as the very walls in which their echoes ring. Some are melodies popular the world over, some are familiar folk tunes, some are national anthems and patriotic strains, and some are hymns ever sacred. While not a few of the airs will be familiar to all, many of the songs are here published for the first time. It is interesting to note also that many of the names listed as authors, composers and arrangers have since become well known in musical and literary fields.

The organization of the Intercollegiate Song Book is to be continued as a permanent body and will carry on this important work, both as a medium for publication of Intercollegiate Song Books and as a means of increasing the general interest in undergraduate musical activities so that in the end all institutions, not already so endowed, may proudly boast of individual songs of merit that will live on through the ages as a fitting memorial to the true spirit of their alma mater.

The Editors are deeply grateful to the host of college men and women scattered throughout the country as a result of whose efforts the present book is made possible. For nearly two years these representatives have been working together in this common cause, all devoting considerable time and effort with enthusiasm,—thoroughly convinced of the value of such a work. In addition to the Editorial Board, and likewise the Advisory Committee of over one hundred official college representatives, there are numerous others whose names are not mentioned, but whose advice and sympathy will not be forgotten; and to all these the Editors are indebted. A word of thanks also is due the music publishers and other copyright owners who have so generously granted permission to reprint their music, and thus have helped in making the book complete and up-to-date.

It is the earnest desire of the Editors that all those who are interested in college activities will see the value of this volume and find in it the real enjoyment for which we hope.

Thy shades are more sooth - ing, thy sun-light more dear, Than des-cend on less priv - i - leged earth;
With free-dom to think, and with pa-tience to bear, And for right ev - er brav-ly to live.
O rel - ic and type of our an-ces-tors, worth, That has long kept their mem-o - ry warm,
Thou then wert our pa - rent, the nurse of our souls, We were mould-ed to man-hood by thee,
For the good and the great, in their beau-ti - ful prime, Thro' thy pre-cincts have mus-ing - ly trod,
Let not moss-cov-ered er - ror moor thee at its side, As the world on truth's cur-rent glides by;

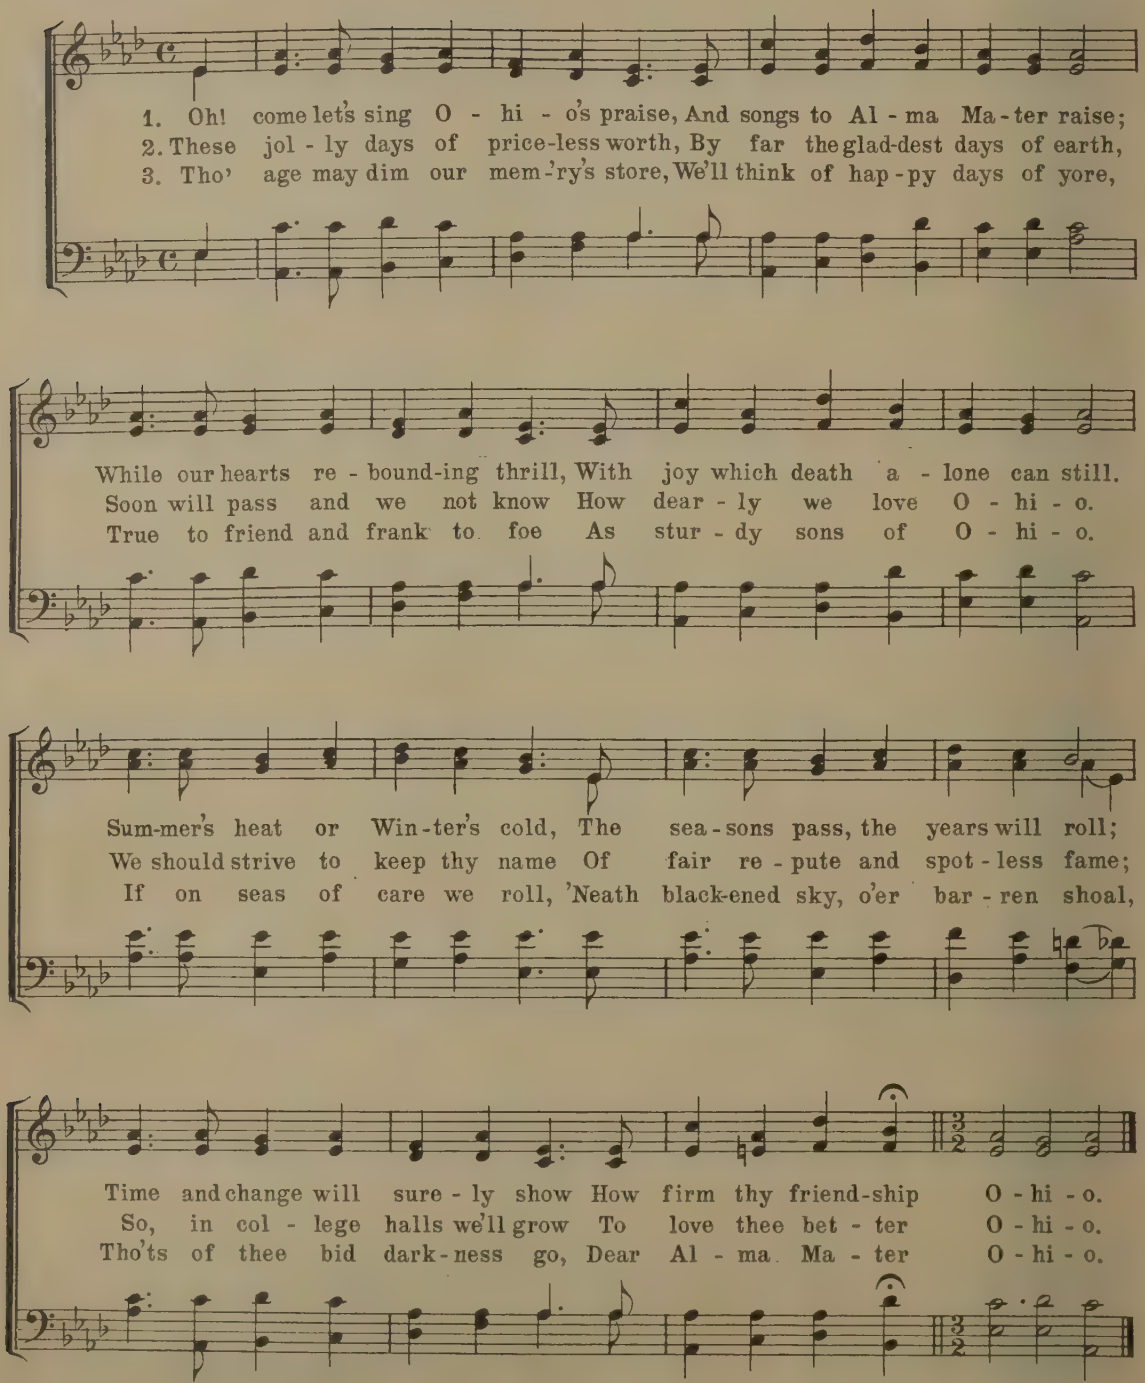
Tune: Spanish Chant



1. Oh! come let's sing O - hi - o's praise, And songs to Al - ma Ma - ter raise;
2. These jol - ly days of price-less worth, By far the glad-dest days of earth,
3. Tho' age may dim our mem-'ry's store, We'll think of hap - py days of yore,
While our hearts re - bound-ing thrill, With joy which death a - lone can still.
Soon will pass and we not know How dear - ly we love O - hi - o.
True to friend and frank to foe As stur - dy sons of O - hi - o.
Sum-mer's heat or Win-ter's cold, The sea - sons pass, the years will roll;
We should strive to keep thy name Of fair re - pute and spot - less fame;
If on seas of care we roll, 'Neath black-ened sky, o'er bar - ren shoal,
Time and change will sure - ly show How firm thy friend-ship O - hi - o.
So, in col - lege halls we'll grow To love thee bet - ter O - hi - o.
Tho'ts of thee bid dark - ness go, Dear Al - ma Ma - ter O - hi - o.

Allegretto

1. O, proud-ly rise the mon-archs of our moun-tain land, With their king-ly for-est robes, to the sky, Where Al-ma Ma-ter dwell-eth with her chos-en band, Where the peace-ful riv-er flow-eth gen-tle by.
2. The snows of win-ter crown them with a crys-tal crown, And the silver clouds of sum-mer round them cling; The Au-tumns scarlet man-tle flows in rich-ness down; And they rev-el in the gar-ni-ture of Spring.
3. O, might-i-ly they bat-tle with the storm-kings power; And con-quer-ors shall tri-umph here for aye; Yet qui-et-ly their shad-ows fall at eve-ning hour, While the gen-tle breez-es round them soft-ly play.
4. Be-neath their peace-ful shad-ows may old Wil-liams stand, Till suns and moun-tains nev-er-more shall be, The glo-ry and the hon-or of our moun-tain land, And the dwell-ing of the gal-lant and the free.
CHORUS
The moun-tains! the moun-tains! we greet them with a song, Whose ech-oes re-bound-ing their wood-land heights a-long shall min-gle with an-thems that winds and foun-tains sing, Till hill and val-ley gai-ly, gai-ly ring.

Hit The Line For Wittenberg

(Wittenberg College)

Arranged by Marshall Bailey, '25

Hit the line for Wit-ten-berg, For vic-to-ry to-day; We'll show the sons of (oth-er schools) That the Card-nal still holds sway, Rah! Rah! Rah!
Up the field, we sweep a-long, A vic-to-ry or die, And we'll give the team a cheer, boys, As old Wit-ten-berg goes by.

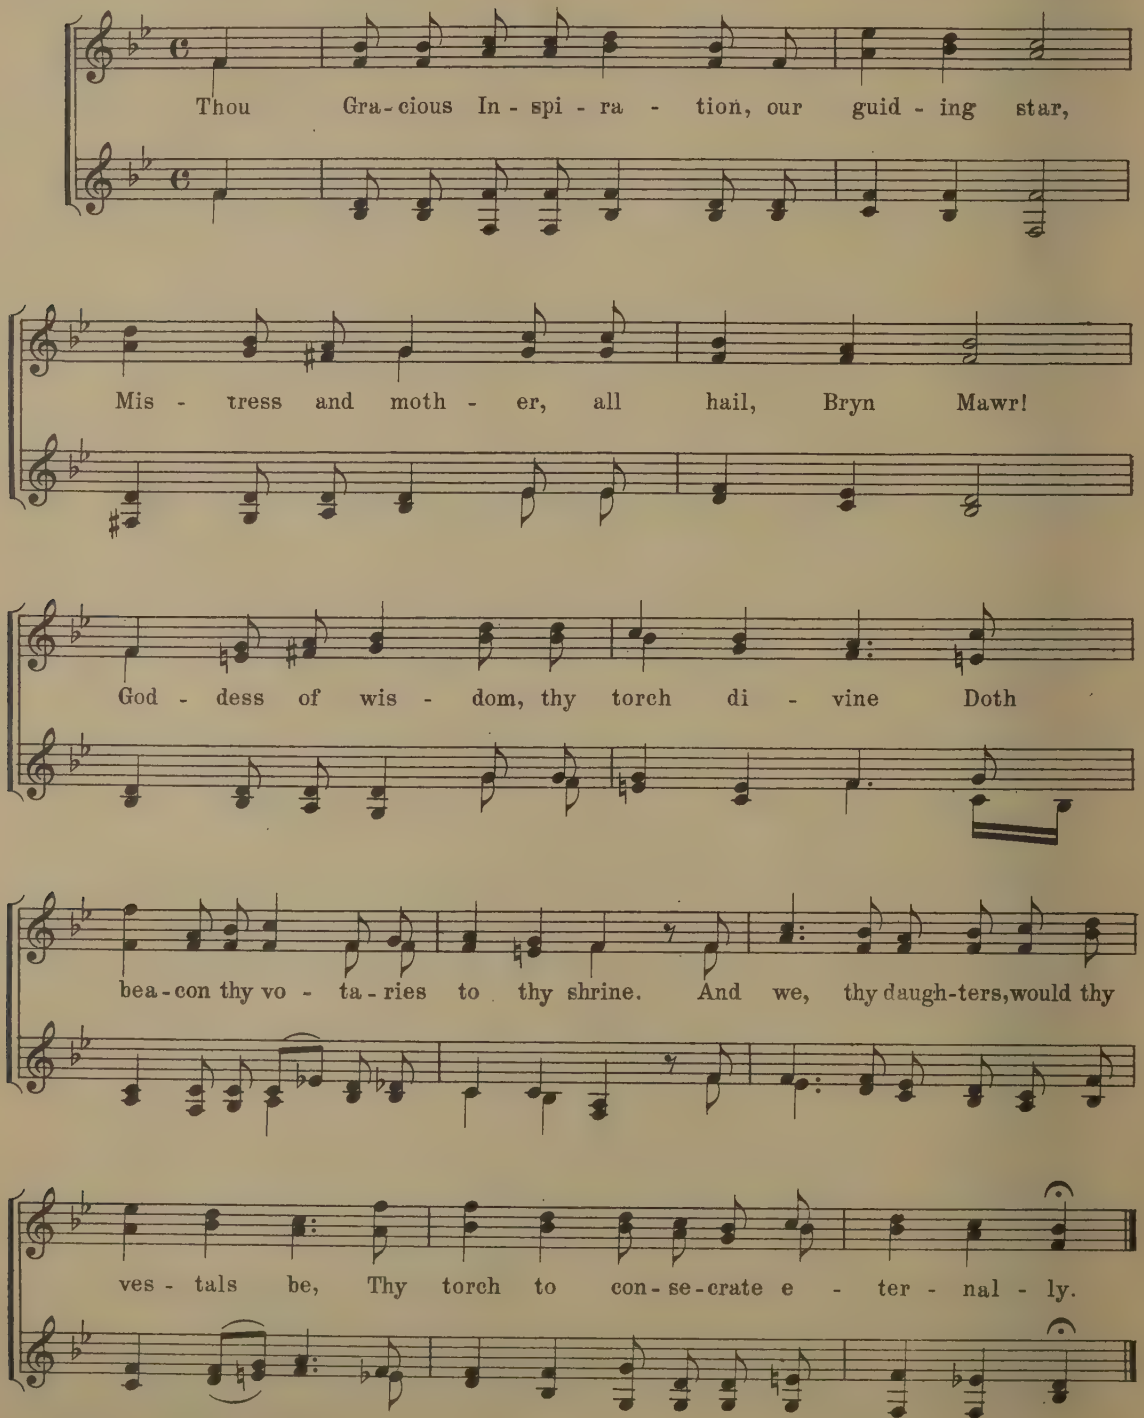
College Hymn

(Bryn Mawr College)

Words by
CAROLINE REEVES FOULKE, '95

Tune: Norsk Flagsang



Thou Gra-cious In-spi-ra-tion, our guid-ing star,
Mis-tress and moth-er, all hail, Bryn Mawr!
God-dess of wis-dom, thy torch di-vine Doth bea-con thy vo-ta-ries to thy shrine. And we, thy daugh-ters, would thy ves-tals be, Thy torch to con-se-crate e-ter-nal-ly.

INDEX OF FIRST LINES

	Page
Alabama, listen, mother	1
All hail, Arizona!	9
All hail Blue and Gold	23
Alma Mater, Sewanee	177
Alma Mater we hail thee	18
Alma Mater, wise and glorious	164
And then its onward for Colorado	39
And then we'll fight, fight, fight	29
And when old Trojan's men fall into line	179
Andy was the grand old man	27
As softly the evening shadows	80
As the backs go tearing by	56
As the men of Fordham swing along	65
Bow down to Washington	225
Bright college years with pleasure rife	246
By the blue Monongahela	234
By the rivers gently flowing	98
Carolina here's to you	177
Come all ye loyal classmen	162
Come all ye sons of Williams	240
Come and sing a good old song	42
Come! A song for Indiana	103
Come cheer for Washington and Lee	217
Come, raise the song for Wesleyana	229
Cornell may have her royal red	185
Dear Alma Mater, at thy shrine	212
Dear Alma Mater, every son and daughter	129
Dear Bucknell, oft of thee	22
Dear is thy homestead	85
Dear old elm-clad hill	190
Dear T. C. U.	191
Down on the field where the team is fighting	172
Every college has a legend	159
Fair Harvard! Thy sons to thy jubilee	86
Far above Cayuga's waters	49
Far above the golden valley	109
Fight, fight, fight for Washington State	220
Fight that team across the field	149
From the hills of Maine	213
Glory to Old Reserve	233
Hail, Alma Mater, dear	198
Hail! Hail! Nevonia!	69
Hail! Pennsylvania! noble and strong	161
Hail to the Buff, hail to the Blue	73
Hark the sound of Tar-heel voices	135
Here comes Car'lina-li-na	136
Here comes the team, boys	230
Here's a song for the Olive and the Blue	195
Here's to Bates	12
Here's to the man who wears the "D"	64
Here where spangled wildernesses	25
High o'er the waters of Lake Champlain	209
Hit the line for Wittenberg	244
Home of our college days	232
I am a Utah man, sir	206
In Princetontown we've got a team	170
Inta, inta, int, just here	36
In the days of old	188
In the valley of Virginia	216
I wish that I were back	118
Join the chorus, join the chorus	31
Let's give a rah for West Virginia	236
Let the Swanee Tiger scratch	2
Long ago she rose and stood	252
Marching, we're marching to vict'ry	115
March, march on down the field	247
March on down the field	91
Men of Dartmouth give a rouse	53
Mid musket fire and the boom of cannon	82
Mingle your cheers with praise and glory	92
Minnesota hail to thee!	126
Minnesota, hats off to thee!	128
My father sent me to old Rutgers	176
Nevada, my Nevada	131
Now college men from sea to sea	201
Now for a cheer, they are here	122
Oberlin forever	146
O! Davidson you are the best	57
O grim, grey Palisades	132
Oh! Come let's sing Ohio's praise	148
Oh Defenders of the White	15
Oh if I had a daughter	78
Oh, let us sing of Idaho	95
Oh, Lord Geoffrey Amherst	6
Oh sons of Tech arise	75
Oh, we're from dear old Wesley'n	151
Oh yes, we'll fight	62
Old Oregon we pledge to thee	156
O proudly rise the monarchs	239
Our Alma Mater fair through life	73
Our morning dawneth on the hills	256
Our sturdy Golden Bear	24
Push on Northwestern	137
Ring out, then, your hoiah!	93
See them plunging down to the goal	50
She is small, our Alma Mater	157
Sing a song, a rich refrain	208
Sing to the Colors (Michigan)	121
Sing to the Colors (Nebraska)	130
Sons of Georgetown	72
Stand Navy down the field	202
State College of Iowa	107
Sturdy sons of City College	34
Sweet Alma Home!	89
Sweet Briar, Sweet Briar, flower fair	255
Talk about the sooners	110
Ten thousand strong	144
The Army team's the pride	199
The Cardinal is waving	184
The eyes of Texas are upon you	193
The march is on	141
The mountain city is her home	71
Then hit the line for old S. C.	181
They say that old Texas	194
Thou Gracious Inspiration	250
Today we gladly sing	30
To her we sing	221
To the fairest college	5
To you, Oh! Alma Mater	253
Tune ev'ry heart and ev'ry voice	169
Varsity! Varsity!	242
We growl but never grumble	10
We hail thee Alma Mater	68
We'll gather by the twilight's glow	112
We'll raise the song	108
We're loyal to you, Illinois	99
Wesleyan, let us all unite	154
What if tomorrow bring Sorrow	44
When bright skies were o'er us	14
When Brunonia's Big Brown Team	20
When 'cross the campus	165
When the bold teams of old	45
When the shades of evening gather	205
When through thy valley	38
Where old Goucher's far-flung colors	251
Where the Lehigh's rocky rapids	114
Where the rolling foothills rise	183
Where the western lights' long shadows	245
Where the vale of Onondaga	187
Where the winds of Dixie	133
With broad and firm foundation	63
With Crimson in triumph flashing	87
Wittenberg, dear Wittenberg	243
Yes! march, march, march	60
